CBRN Specialist

United States Armed Services- Army - Fort Bragg, NC
January 2017 to October 2019

As a former soldier in the United States Army, I've been trained to be a professional in the work force. I have no problem accommodating for my employers and accomplishing tasks in as expedient a manner as possible, and work exceptionally well as part of a team.

My former position as a CBRN (Chemical, Biological, Radiological and Nuclear) specialist involved detecting, reacting, and mitigating any kind of chemical/biological/nuclear threats posed by either enemies of the United States of America and/or natural disasters. As such I'm trained to the operational level in HAZMAT, with a lot of experience in suit.

I also have a secret security clearance as part of my former job requisites.
